BIBLE READING

Exodus 34:29–35

29 When Moses came down from Mount Sinai with the two tablets of the covenant law in his hands, he was not aware that his face was radiant because he had spoken with the Lord. 30 When Aaron and all the Israelites saw Moses, his face was radiant, and they were afraid to come near him. 31 But Moses called to them; so Aaron and all the leaders of the community came back to him, and he spoke to them. 32 Afterwards all the Israelites came near him, and he gave them all the commands the Lord had given him on Mount Sinai. 33 When Moses finished speaking to them, he put a veil over his face. 34 But whenever he entered the Lord's presence to speak with him, he removed the veil until he came out. And when he came out and told the Israelites what he had been commanded, 35 they saw that his face was radiant. Then Moses would put the veil back over his face until he went in to speak with the Lord.

Why safeguarding matters in churches
Churches are often built around trust, welcome, community and service. These are all positive and powerful strengths, but they can also create risk when boundaries are unclear, power and authority is misused, or concerns are minimised or covered up. Safeguarding matters because:
• Abuse can happen anywhere, including faith settings
• People may disclose harm in church because it feels safe and trusted
• Good safeguarding protects everyone – those who may be harmed, those who have been harmed, those who serve and lead Safeguarding is not about suspicion or bureaucracy; it is a form of care: taking responsibility so that people can participate confidently and safely.

It's not only about children - Safeguarding is most usually associated with children's and youth work, but it also includes adults too. Many people may be more vulnerable at different times of life because of several factors, including age, physical or mental health, addiction or other life circumstances. Churches often provide support to people in exactly these situations through various activities, which is another reason safeguarding is so important.

Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility. The simplest starting points are to notice concerns, speak up early, record appropriately, and refer to the Safeguarding Lead.

Parish Safeguarding Officer for St Mary Magdalene is Debbie McAvilley. We thank her for the excellent lead she is taking on our behalf.
